RIVER ARTS DISTRICT

ARTISTS

ASHEVILLE, NC

Welcome to the River Arts District (RAD), one of the largest arts districts in the United States. As our district grows in geographical size and population, we remain independent artists collectively promoting the RAD through our artist association, RADA. We will remain open and continue to welcome you into our studios each day, even as the RAD is undergoing a major transportation initiative to improve sidewalks, greenways and roadways. Artists, working studios, galleries, and classrooms are spread among 23 historic buildings. Each artist/studio sets their own schedule, but you will find art happening in the RAD 365 days a year. Special events, classes, and updated artist/studio schedules are available online. Pick up a guide in any of the studios and enjoy a day or more exploring the diverse art and artists in the RAD.

Industry to Artistry

In the 1880s the Norfolk Southern Railroad began service alongside the ancient French Broad River in Asheville, bringing industries and a population boom, until the historic 1916 flood devastated the railroad and the businesses it served.

When downtown Asheville began an urban renaissance in the 1970s, artists looking for affordable space began to move into buildings along the river. Highwater Clays was first, moving to Lyman Street in the mid-80s. In 1987 Porge and Peter Buck opened Warehouse Studios, calling the Warehouse artists “the river avant-garde.”

RAD Pioneers and Historic Buildings

1987: Steve Keull bought the 1910 Armour Star Meat Packing Plant, 375 Depot Street.

1989: Patti Torno bought the 1916 Standard Oil Co, now Curve Studios & Gardens.

1990: Helaine Green and her sister acquired the 1902 Hans-Rees Tannery, now Riverview Station.

1995: Brian + Gail McCarthy bought Clingman Ave. Complex, now Odyssey Center/Ultra Coffee.

2002: Sculptor John Payne bought the 1916 Farmer's Federated Ag Co-op, now the Wedge.

2003: Ceramic artists Marty and Eileen Black bought the 1887 Cotton Mill building.

-Riverside Studios: general store in 1891

-The Hatchery: chicken hatchery built in 1955

-Phil Mechanic Studios: cold storage warehouse built in 1920

-Pink Dog Creative: 1920s textile warehouse

-362 Depot Street: 1900s General Store and Meat Processing Plant

-NorthLight Studios: tannery built in 1904

-The Lift Studios: National Biscuit Company built in 1907

-The Old Wood Company: storage warehouse built in 1958

A Vibrant Community on a Treasured River

Since its beginnings the River Arts District has grown rapidly. Historic buildings are still being purchased by artists for studios and co-ops, and today scores of studios open daily and hold special events throughout the year. The first Studio Stroll was held in 1994 with a few artists; today 200+ artists' studios open during the second weekend in November.

Currently the RAD is undergoing improvements to create a vibrant, long-term urban plan recognizing the French Broad River and its arts district as one of Asheville's great treasures.

Information compiled by Wendy Whitson. Visit riverartsdistrict.com/history for full history.

What will I find in the River Arts District?

Working art studios, galleries, restaurants, breweries, wine bars, public art and more! Explore our website at riverartsdistrict.com for updated information.

How do I get there? Where can I park?

Consult the online map on the RAD website if driving. The RAD is just a few minutes from downtown Asheville. Parking is free on the street or in studio lots. And no meters! The W1 and W2 buses also serve the RAD; visit ridetheheart.com for details.

When are you open? When's the best time to come?

The RAD's 200-plus artists keep individual schedules, but on any day throughout the year you will find scores of open studios and galleries. Many open from 11-5, some from 10-6, with later hours — and free trolley service — for special events such as Second Saturday each month and Studio Stroll on the second full weekend in November. Saturdays are always good open studio days. Check the RAD website “Who's Open” page, and if you want to see a particular artist or art form, check the Artists page or search a name for location and hours.

Can I ship art home? May I photograph the art?

Most artists are happy to pack and ship your purchases. Please ask the artist or studio/gallery before taking photographs.

Are there places to eat? What about public restrooms?

There are restaurants, cafes and pizzerias, coffee and tea shops, breweries and wine bars throughout the RAD; find them marked with a knife and fork or wine/pint glass on the Studio Guide map. Most studios and eateries have restrooms they are glad to share, and there is a public restroom at 14 Riverside Drive, open daily from dawn to dusk.

The City of Asheville thanks you for supporting the artists' studios and businesses in the River Arts District. We are proud to be part of the partnership that is building a better RAD.

Improvements Ahead WE ARE OPEN

Tree-lined sidewalks, bicycle lanes, new river access points, safer roads, parking lots and on-street spaces, ecological improvements and greenways in and around the district are coming soon.

The full plan and traffic impact info can be found at www.ashevillenc.gov/river or call the City's Strategic Development Office at (828)232-4502.
